FRENCH WIN 7 MI. GAIN IN ITALY

French, Yanks Make Big Gain

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 15 (AP) — French troops have advanced as much as seven miles from the take-off point on the Fifth Army right wing in the all-out offensive.

The Americans are pressing an attack on Spigno, showing they have driven at least four miles north and west of Minturno.

(A London AP dispatch said the German high command today acknowledged a withdrawal of "several kilometers" south of Cassino on the Eighth Army sector of the Italian battlefront.)

French troops earlier made "a significant breach" in the Germans' Gustav Line, it was announced officially, while the Americans earlier smashed the enemy out of two towns on the lower Garigliano river and took vital mountain positions on both sides of the Ausente river.

Farther north, the big Allied offensive also gained, with the British and Indians deepening their Rapido river bridgehead to at least 2000 yards—more than a mile—and sending over great numbers of tanks to exploit this attack into the Liri valley—a direct road to Rome.

More than 2000 prisoners already have streamed back into Allied cages

Very heavy casualties have been inflicted along the whole front and hard fighting continues

After a bitter and bloody fight the Americans drove the Nazis out of the town of Santa Maria Infante at noon yesterday, pushed on to a road junction northeast of the town and fanned out to capture the village of San Pietro and the nearby hills, Monte Cerri and Monte Bracchi, on either side of the Ausente river.

In quick succession the embattled French won 2500-foot Monte Rinchiuso and 1900-foot Colle Agrifoglio and occupied the towns of San Andrea and San Ambrogio and mopped up San Appolinare.

Subsequently the troops of Gen. Alphonse Juin routed the Germans from Southwest of Cassino the enemy put in strong counter-attacks throughout yesterday.

The only sector of the offensive front where the fighting died down was northwest of Cassino where the Poles had attacked heavily on the two preceding days.

ITALY—French troops have breached the German Gustav Line and captured the town of Ausonia (arrow from French flag) . . . while on the left flank American forces have taken Santa Maria Infanta as the all out Allied offensive pounds the entire German defense system.

Yanks Open 2d Month Big Raid

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, May 15 (AP)—American Flying Fortresses and Liberators attacked German invasion defenses in the Pas de Calais area nearest Britain today in the 31st consecutive day of the great aerial offensive, after a night in which German bombers sharply attacked the British coast.

No American bomber was lost today but one accompanying Mustang was missing. It fell to anti-aircraft fire since the U. S. communique said no German plane was sighted.

A maximum of 250 Fortresses and Liberators under protection of Eighth Air Force Mustangs pounded military installations in France, following a night attack on Cologne by British Mosquito bombers, and a week-end of activity which saw the historic Brenner Pass, main supply line for the Nazis in Italy, virtually sealed up.

The Berlin radio asserted German raiders made "fierce attacks" on Bristol last night and declared "large quantities of high explosives and incendiaries" were dropped. A British announcement that at least 15 of the raiders were shot down indicated the Nazis may have struck with as many of 300 planes.

The British said the raids caused some damage and a small number of casualties "over wide areas of South and Southwest England," but noted the weight of bombs dropped did not seem proportionate to the number of planes employed, suggesting the main objective of the attack was to gain invasion information.

American Marauders and lighter Havoc medium bombers attacked a railyard in northern France and the Creil airfield 25 miles North of Paris. Lightnings and Spitfires accompanied them. It was the 17th medium bomber sweep this month.

In addition to heavy bombers in today's operations, waves of American Marauder medium bombers also headed for northern France.

A central German radio blackout suggested that the planes might be penetrating the heart of the Reich.

The blow at the Brenner Pass was followed up by a 1000-plane assault yesterday on German-held airfields and railways in northern Italy rounding out a solid month of round-the-clock attacks by Allied airmen who flew 90,000 offensive flights and dropped 130,000 tons of bombs.

Striking both long and short-range blows against slowly strengthening enemy air resistance, Allied warplanes flew more than 2500 sorties yesterday, supporting the Fifth and Eighth Armies by the intense campaign to isolate the Gustav line.

More than 30 enemy aircraft were sighted, of which 10 were shot down, the Mediterranean Army Air Force reported. Six Allied planes were reported missing. One enemy plane was downed Saturday night.

Heavy bombers unleashed blows at railroad yards in the Po valley, seeking to force the enemy to get all of his reinforcements from Central Italy. Medium bombers and fighter bombers simultaneously slashed rail communications between Rome and Florence.

Fighters roaring down enemy airfields throughout Italy, destroying parked planes and harassing all highway transport activity.

Reds Massing For All-Out Blow

MOSCOW, May 15 (AP)—Russian armies are believed massing for a summer offensive surpassing any blow yet struck on the eastern front.

The spring lull which started in mid-April continued today and no fresh military dispatches were published from the front.

But there were multiplying signs of the coming push. Russian bombers, for instance, struck at the rail center of Brest Litovsk (in old Poland) starting 30 fires, and also attacked Nazi bases at Polotsk in White Russia and Narva in the Estonian republic.

STOCKHOLM, May 15 (AP)—Norwegian and Russian partisans have been landed in far northern Norway from Soviet submarines which slipped past German defenses through the fjord-dotted coastline, the Stockholm Tidningen said today.

Chinese Smash Jap R. R. Hold

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ
Associated Press War Editor

Counterattacking Chinese cracked Japan's newly-won hold on the important Peiping-Hankow railroad, but to the west Nipponese forces are reported today to have fought their way into the historic city of Loyang from three directions.

Chungking said Chinese troops captured Suiping on the vital north-south railroad and have surrounded a Japanese force at Chumatien on the railroad five miles south of Suiping. The invaders completed their conquest of the last 150-mile segment of the supply line last week.

Led by 200 tanks, Japanese stormed Loyang from the east, north and northwest but the Chinese high command said the enemy was being held despite heavy casualties on both sides.

The Chinese high command announced large Chinese forces launched an offensive in western Yunnan Province May 10, crossing the Salween river at many points on a front of over 100 miles in an effort to link up with Gen. Stilwell's troops in northern Burma.

Maj. Gen. Chennault's sky dragons heavily supported the new drive, two American communiques reported.

General successes were reported in Allied mopping-up operations on the East Indian front, where British officers declared Japan's invasion thrust has "failed completely."

Gen. MacArthur's airmen in the Southwest Pacific cooked up the biggest batch of aerial destruction for the enemy since the Hollandia invasion when they poured 334 tons of bombs at Japanese airfields and defense installations at Wakde island and the adjacent Dutch New Guinea coast.

MacArthur also revealed for the first time dive-bomber pilots used rocket guns attached to their planes' wings to help destroy 40 Japanese barges at Rabaul.

Nazis Tell How Allies'll Invade

By EDWARD D. BALL

LONDON, May 15 (AP)—The Germans, in broadcasts speculating on Allied invasion, admitted today West Wall defenses might be penetrated. "When the battle starts," a Berlin commentator said, "fighting will not be limited to divisions of the Atlantic wall or to points under attack, but small waves may reach far beyond. Then Germany will be called upon to stand her greatest and most dangerous test."

One report from the continental underground reaching London said the enemy was hastily reinforcing air-borne and parachute forces in the west—not for counter-invasion of Britain, but as a defensive measure.

These forces, it was explained, would be rushed to the aid of any German troops cut off from the rear by the Allies. With Allied air forces systematically destroying Hitler's rail comunications, the Germans apparently were preparing to resort to air transport.

TOJO SPURS GERMANS

Another underground report said the Nazis had pulled back into Germany half their fighter force from the west, leaving barely 250 first line aircraft to combat Allied air forces.

Nazi propagandists had the moral support of Jap Premier Hideki Tojo as they awaited the assault. Tojo told his people yesterday the German armed forces were "confident and impatient."

The British Broadcasting Co., addressing the peoples of occupied Europe in 24 languages in a radio broadcast, asked them to move immediately from the vicinity of important railway and industrial installations—prime targets in the preinvasion hammering of fortress Europe.

PERIL FRIENDS' LIVES

A BBC speaker said "our pilots realize the lives and homes of our friends are at stake. They therefore exercise the greatest possible care, but the scale of these attacks inevitably will add to the sufferings which you—our staunch friends—have so courageously endured.

"We know the extreme difficulty of evacuation. Nevertheless, we ask you most urgently to take every step possible to move away from all important railway and industrial installations."

Tojo, who knows that if the western invasion succeeds his country stands alone against the Allied might, delivered a radio pep talk picturing Germany as "fully prepared to meet any situation she may find herself confronted with" and added that "Germany has perfected a position enabling her to carry through with counter-offensive operations."

Seers Thrive On War Woe

By THE EDITORS

Massachusetts women in large numbers, seeking relief and surcease from the worries and sorrows of war, have become victims of a vicious and malignant racket. They are being preyed upon by fortune tellers—claimed mystics, clairvoyants, seers of one type or another—who profess to be able to tell them how their sons, husbands, sweethearts, brothers are faring in the battle areas.

They are being told that sons reported by the War Department as killed in action are really living and will return.

They are being told that husbands reported missing in action are safe or . . . "I see him dazed, wounded, wandering . . ."

They are being told that sweethearts long unheard from are wounded, blinded, maimed for life.

They are being told: "I see a $10,000 cash settlement coming your way"—an amount of soldier's insurance.

They are being subtly advised in some instances to accept the attentions of "the other man" during the absence of their husbands.

They are being told these things for money—for fees—led on in hope, in sorrow, in expectation of further "news" to "come again; come again soon. I will have new word for you, poor soul."

These facts have been established in documentary, corroborated evidence by the Boston American during a five-weeks investigation undertaken by four young women staff reporters.

The inquiry was launched as a result of a story from New York where a woman took her life and that of her baby in the East river after visiting a fortune teller who reportedly told her that her husband lay dead on the field of battle.

We determined to discover what conditions prevailed here and, if a bad condition existed, to expose it and to end it either through the medium of publicity, prosecution under existing law or amendment of existing statute if that were found necessary for prosecution of such cases.

The investigation was launched in secret early in April. The investigators were carefully chosen—trained, accurate reporters of our regular staff, all with backgrounds of long experience.

They were Pauline Warren, Alice Bissell and Helen Weller of the Boston Evening American, and Helen Farlow of the Boston Daily Record.

Secrecy Necessary

Secrecy obviously was necessary to the success of the investigation. Any hint of the undertaking would have resulted in immediate altering of conditions existing in the sorority and fraternity of those who will foretell your future and that of a loved one for a fee.

Only a few outside the actual investigators—the exceptions included the editors and legal counsel of these papers—knew of the inquiry until it was near completion.

The investigators went to work in pairs to assure corroborative evidence.

They equipped themselves with service pins, service insignia, wedding rings, to play the parts assigned them—those of wives, sweethearts, brothers of men overseas.

Their very first discovery indicated the scope of the "business." Where they had expected to merely walk into the office of a soothsayer or palm reader and attend a session without previous announcement, they discovered that appointments in advance—very often considerably in advance—were absolutely necessary.

These people were doing such a tremendous business that readings were "by appointment only."

The investigation centered in Boston for several weeks. It spread out to include Cambridge, Quincy, Arlington, Lawrence, Lowell, Lynn, Somerville, Newton, Fall River, New Bedford and other points.

Daily reports and corroborative reports were assembled by the young women. They had their palms read, their cards read, their tea-leaves read, their coffee-grounds read, their minds read,

Sees Red Plot In Priest Trip

SPRINGFIELD, May 15—The Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski's temporary banishment to an undisclosed monastry means the Joseph Stalin has "failed to divide Polish-Americans in order to further his designs on Poland," the Rt. Rev. Msgr. B. A. Bojanowski, noted Catholic authority on Russian-Polish affairs, said today.

Meanwhile, Fr. Orlemanski's whereabouts remained a mystery since, in apparent submission to the punishment order imposed by Bishop Thomas M. O'Leary he failed to appear at Sunday masses in Our Lady of the Rosary Church, where he has been pastor for 22 years.

Bishop O'Leary

Announcing that the bishop had received a personal letter from Fr. Orlemanski, the Rev. George A. Shea, chancellor of the Springfield diocese, said Bishop O'Leary would issue a statement later today. Fr. Shea added "it would be fair to assume that it said Fr. Orlemanski would acquiesce to the bishop's order."

Under terms of the punishment, the Polish pastor is forbidden to say mass, administer any of the sacraments or to take part in any public functions of the church.

Fr. Orlemanski remained away from a parish celebration marking the feast of St. Stanislaus and was represented by the Rev. Xavier Baronowski, who was appointed administrator of the church. Fr. Shea said that the priest, whose punishment followed his return from an unauthorized trip to Moscow, had been instructed to contact the diocesan office from the monastery in which he selects to seclude himself.

Msgr. Bojanowski's interpretation of the ending of the Springfield priest's unauthorized and much- publicized Moscow visit charged that the Russians were using Fr. Orlemanski as "a tool."

"Stalin hoped through the priest to divide Polish-Americans in their opposition to the Russian dictator's plan for a Soviet-sponsored government in port-war Poland," the monsignor said. "But the scheme, instead, has had the effect of uniting the six million Americans of

Stalin Silent On Priest's Plight

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, May 15 (AP)—Premier Stalin has heard about the suspension of the Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski, Springfield, Mass., Catholic priest who recently conferred with him twice, but whether the Soivet leader was irritated, as the priest said he would be, was not made known immediately.

The newspaper Pravda published three dispatches relating to the sequel to Fr. Orlemanski's return to the United States and the publication of Stalin's answers to his questions on relations between the Kremlin and the Vatican.

The first dispatch, from New York, relayed an Associated Press story from Springfield that Fr. Orlemanski had been suspended indefinitely by his bishop for "disobeying church laws."

The other two dispatches, from London, gave British accounts of the priest's appeal to the apostolic delegate in Washington.

All three dispatches were worded objectively and gave no indication of the Kremlin's reaction. Foreigners believe Stalin's statement to the priest was a significant uttersance of the Kremlin's attitude.

Vet Bill Aides Battle To Keep Measure Intact

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 15—The "GI Bill of Rights" was scheduled for a final two hours of debate by the House today, with members of the World War Veterans Committee expressing confidence they would win the fight to preserve all its major provisions intact.

"I don't have any idea that the House will do anything but accept the GI bill substantially as our committee reported it," Rep. John E. Rankin, of Mississippi, committee chairman, said. "The GI bill is gaining strength all the time."

However, a number of representatives have expressed intention of introducing amendments to the measure. Chief opponent to the committee's bill is Rep. Graham Barden, of North Carolina, chairman of the House Education Committee, which has an educational program for veterans which it is trying to insert in the GI measure.

To forestall any delay in passage, former Illinois Gov. John Stelle, chairman of the American Legion committee, which drafted the original bill, cautioned that this is a "crucial week" for the GI measure, and urged parents of service people to write or wire their congressmen to reject amendments.

"Many matters concerning veterans are being discussed as possible amendments to the bill," he said, "but they should be submitted later as separate legislation. With this last-minute public support the entire matter can be disposed of within the next 10 days and the machinery set up immediately thereafter to provide funds for jobless veterans.

"It is agreed by everyone that the 'GI' is not perfect, and that with the passage of time it may be necessary to change or add to its provisions, but it is the best measure that can be enacted at this time to meet the problems of the million veterans already discharged."

Stelle warned that any serious interference with the bill would be a direct defiance of the will of the American people.

Rep. Bigelow to Quit When Term Expires

Rep. Albert F. Bigelow of Brookline, chairman of the House ways and means committee and Republican stalwart in the Legislature for 17 years, announced today he will retire from politics when his term expires at the year's end.

"Seventeen years is enough," he said.

A doughty foe and bitter critic of large scale spending-beyond-income, Bigelow became a member of the ways and means committee in 1932 and its chairman the following year.

His criticisms of legislative spending often extended to Congress. As an opponent of extended veterans' demands in 1938, he prophesied "ruin" for the country unless they were moderated.

In his post as chairman of the ways and means group, Bigelow has fought some gubernatorial budgets, notably those of former Governors Curley and Ely.

He entered politics after graduating from Harvard and Harvard Law School. Finance has been his field in private life. He is now 64.

Immediately upon Bigelow's announcement of retirement, Theodore C. Baker, Brookline business man, announced he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination to the place.

Kelly 1st to File For Governor

Former Lieut.-Gov. Kelly filed sufficient signatures at the secretary of state's office today to become the first candidate for governor to be certified.

Kelly, a Democrat, will be opposed in the primaries by State Treasurer Hurley and Mayor Tobin.

In filing the signatures, Kelly said, "the ease with which 90,000 signatures were obtained for my nomination papers for governor convinces me that the Democratic voters of Massachusetts are determined to nominate a candidate who is a full-time Democrat and able to conduct a campaign vigorous enough to assure removal of the Republican regime which has reigned nearly six years for the favored few on Beacon Hill."

Find Low Salt Diet Is Sleep Producer

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

PHILADELPHIA, May 15—A drugless method of inducing sleep by reducing the salt diet was reported to the American Psychiatric Ass'n today by Dr. Michael M. Miller of the U. S. Marine Hospital, Ellis Island, New York.

The low-salt diet was tried on 12 men. Six had been sleepless from morphine addiction, six from a variety of ordinary causes, not specified by Dr. Miller.

Eleven found relief. In two to three weeks they began even to take afternoon naps, unheard of in their personal experiences. The 12th man had bad effects from lack of salt and the experiment was discontinued for him.

Dr. Miller pointed out that lack of salt has perils, such as dizziness, trembling, nausea, apathy, fatigue and muscular weakness. He said low-salt diet should not be attempted without medical advice.

Another angle of sleep, narcolepsy, a little-understood condition in which men during battle have fallen asleep while shells exploded around them was reported by Maj. Max Levine of the Thayer General Hospital, U. S. Medical Corps, Nashville, Tenn.

Narcolepsy is a mystery but it is commonplace. Falling asleep in church is sometimes due to narcolepsy. This sleep, he said, is caused by the urge to escape what the preacher is saying.

Some narcoleptics, fortunate ones, fall asleep while the dentist's drill is boring. The mysterious condition most commonly occurs in response to an emotion, especially laughter.

DeValera Opens Election Battle

DUBLIN, May 13 (INS)—Prime Minister Eamon DeValera fired the opening salvo in Eire's general election campaign in County Clare when he told electors that neutrality was not the issue. The contest, he said, was the purely domestic concern of electing a government with a sufficiently strong majority.

DeValera, who received a warm reception, asked electors to ponder seriously the desirability of having a government independent of a combination of weaker groups which were liable at any time to defeat the government if a particular feature of policy was not popular with them.

Lind Murder Trial Opens

WASHINGTON, May 15—Into the same courtroom where he won his reputation as a crack criminal lawyer, 67-year-old Robert I. Miller returns today to take his place in the prisoner's dock, charged with the slaying last February of Dr. John E. Lind, noted psychiatrist.

The white-haired, busy-browed Miller is accused of shooting the physician as the latter sat in his coupe at a busy capital intersection during the noon rush hour on Feb. 21. Seated beside Lind in the parked machine was Miller's 42-year-old wife, Marguerite, whose association with the physician is said to have aroused the lawyer to a homicidal pitch.

Hundreds of witnesses saw Miller lean into the parked coupe. They heard two shots and saw Mrs. Miller, her mink coat blood-spattered, get out of the car. They saw Lind slumped in the seat, dead, with two .38 caliber slugs in his head and chest.

Police found two revolvers in the car. One of these, according to a porter, was dropped on the seat by Miller. The lawyer claims the second gun was Lind's and that Lind tried to shoot him.

Among witnesses expected to be called is Mrs. Robert Dudley, daughter of Dr. Lind, who told police, following the shooting, that she had warned her father "to stay away from that woman."

The visit of two psychiatrists to Miller's cell last week has led to speculation that Defense Attorney H. Mason Welch may enter a plea of insanity on behalf of the accused slayer.

Malden Factory Fire Is Probed

Cause of a three-alarm $10,000 fire which razed an ice cream cone factory of the Crown Baking Co., in Pierce st., Malden, was under investigation today.

Firemen of five cities battled the flames which attracted thousands of churchgoers and Mother's Day visitors at nearby Forest Dale Cemetery to the scene, creating a serious traffic jam. Auxiliary police were called to aid regulars in unsnarling the traffic tangle.

Help was summoned from Melrose, Medford, Everett and Revere to battle the flames which threatened to spread through a residential district and woodland and sent billowing clouds of smoke over wide areas of the city.

Theological Pupil Draft Is Blasted

Drafting of pre-theological students was viewed as "a blow at church leadership," today by authorities at the opening session of the 145th annual two-day meeting of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference.

Separation of the functions of church and state was listed as the principal topic of discussion at the gathering in Old South Church. Leaders planned to ask for an expression of opinion on the conscription of pre-theological students from the 1500 delegates representing Massachusetts' 200,000 Congregationalists.

Rev. Truman B. Douglass was scheduled as principal speaker at the morning session, with Rev. Ralph M. Timberlake, conference president, presiding.

Sedition Trial for 29 Starts Fifth Week

WASHINGTON, May 15 (INS)—The government's mass sedition trial moves into its fifth week today with a tentative jury of nine men and three women seated.

It appeared likely that the permanent jury will be complete late today or tomorrow and examination of witnesses would begin in the case of the 29 defendants charged with attempting to undermine the morale of the armed forces.

Destroyer Shea Dips Saturday

The late Comdr. John J. Shea of Arlington, native of Cambridge, whose last letter to his son Jackie has become a war classic, will be honored next Saturday when a 2200-ton super-destroyer bearing his name will take the water at the Staten Island yards of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co.

Jackie, now six years old, will be an honored guest at the evening ceremonies when his widowed mother, who lives at 37 Alton st., Arlington, will christen the U. S. S. Shea.

Comdr. Shea died a hero, battling the flames which swept the aircraft carrier "Wasp" after the vessel was torpedoed by the Japanese in the South Pacific, Sept. 15, 1942.

Circus Aerial Star Injured in Fall

NEW YORK, May 15—Pretty 21-year-old Patricia Cartier, daredevil trapeze star, was in a critical condition today at the Polyclinic Hospital, apparently a victim of the hex which has stalked the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey's Circus all season.

The English aerialist, younger of the Cartier Sisters, reached for a trapeze that wasn't there and, while 14,000 spectators gasped, plummeted 30 feet to the floor of the Madison Square Garden. Doctors found she had a fracture of her left wrist, a broken right ankle, severe head wounds and internal injuries.

Tito Forces Seize Important Harbor

LONDON, May 15 (INS)—Recapture of important Starigrad harbor, 25 miles south of Split, by Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partisan forces was reported today.

The announcement was contained in a broadcast of a communique which warned that the "final blow against the invaders" is near. Another Partisan force seized the town of Zivinice, East Bosnia.

Odd List of Poor Memories Unveiled in Police Lineup

Bennett was arrested at the entrance of Sumner tunnel in a car stolen from a physician, who police asserted had given the tar a lift. They accused Bennett of seizing the automobile after intimidating the doctor.

"I must have done it for some reason, but I don't remember why," said the sailor.

Then he brightened up and said, "I may think of it later.'

Also mystified was James F. MacNeil, 24, Magnolia st., Roxbury, who was arrested early this morning on Chestnut st., Beacon Hill. Police said he was carrying a wallet containing credentials of a man named Bates and gasoline coupons belonging to a Helen M. Good.

"How come?" he was asked.

"I can't explain it myself," said MacNeil.

Then there was Otto A. Koppana, 29, Hancock st., West End, who could remember doing an old stretch in State Prison for criminal assault but found it beyond comprehension he should be arrested at 4 a. m. in front of a Jamaica Plain house that had just been burglarized.

"Well, what were you doing there?" he was asked.

"It's this way," said Koppana. "I had just taken a girl named Dot home in a taxicab and I was walking along—"

"What is Dot's last name?" an officer inquired.

"Can't remember," said Koppana.

Absolve Pharmacist In 5 Baby Poisonings

NORWICH, Ct., May 15 (AP)—There was no criminal negligence involved in the deaths of five infants at Lawrence and Memorial Hospital, New London, from boric acid mistakenly administered as dextrose, Coroner Edward G. McKay reported today.

The deaths occurred in April and were traced to boric acid powder which had been placed in a jar which usually contained dextrose. The coroner's report today stated he had been unable to determine who had placed the acid in the jar.

The report exonerated Miss Paula Machnick, the hospital pharmacist, noting that on the morning the error was made she had filled 250 orders, that her helper was a man ordinarily employed about the hospital as a porter and who lacked professional knowledge.

"It is my opinion," the coroner stated, "that she had too many duties to perform and that she did not have adequate or skilful enough help. Her failure to fully perform her duty was not the result of any wanton recklessness or thoughtless disregard for the rights of others on her part.

The finding, while absolving those in charge of the maternity ward and the nursing of the children of criminal action, criticised the delay in instituting a thorough investigation when unexplained illness affected several infants at the same time.

U. S. Report Praising Mihailovich Muffled

By LEON PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 15 (INS)—The War Department and the Office of Strategic Services clamped down the lid today on an official report which, if disclosed, would reflect credit on the cause of Gen. Draja Mihailovich, minister of war of Yugoslavia.

The report was prepared by two United States officers who have just returned from a special tour of duty with the Mihailovich forces. They escaped from the country by running the gauntlet of the German lines, in the company of Capt. Borislav Todorovich, a member of Mihailovich's staff.

Suppression of the report made it clear the United States has committed itself to building up the rival leader, Marshal Tito, head of the Yugoslav Partisans, whom Prime Minister Churchill has credited with doing most of the fighting. The report was withheld as the Allied command in the Mediterranean permitted American and British reporters to visit Yugoslavia and interview Tito.

United States officers brought back a highly favorable impression of the military effectiveness of Mihailovich and of his loyalty to the Allied cause. But they have been zealously guarded from contact with reporters.

Even their names are withheld. Inquiries at the Office of Strategic Services receive the reply the mission was secret and the men cannot be identified. From other sources, International News Service learned the officers are Lieut.-Col. John F. R. Seitz, USA, and Capt. Walter R. Mansfield, USMC.

The muffling of these men has aroused considerable opposition within the Office of Strategic Services. Though no formal interviews are permitted in that office, one official, in a "don't-quote-me" interview, gave the following frank reaction:

"These men (Seitz and Mansfield) have orders not to see anybody. Personally, I have definite views in the matter, and I am partial to the cause of Mihailovich. Frankly, nothing would give me more pleasure than to let Mihailovich be defended.

"My sympathies being what they are, I would be delighted if the story could be told.

"Mihailovich is accused of collaborating with the Germans and of getting arms and ammunition from them. But it may be that he has simply penetrated the German lines and seized German arms for his own use.

"When you fight as they have to fight in Yugoslavia—guerrilla warfare—you employ whatever means you can.

"Suppose, for example, Washington and Virginia were overrun with Germans. We might be very ingratiating to the occupying forces—not because we favor them, but because we want to work from within and get arms for our own defense.

"Yet this does not justify our being called collaborators or traitors."

5 in State Cited As Navy Heroes

Five Bay State men have been commended by the Navy Department for distinguished conduct under enemy fire.

Clifford B. Barnhill, 25, carpenter's mate 1/c, of 877 Huntington ave., Boston, and Russell B. Barringer, 23, shipfitter 1/c, of 7 Fulton st., Peabody, have been awarded the Silver Star Medal. The men were cited for heroism in removing a wounded Army officer from a blazing and ammunition-loaded landing craft during the Sicily invasion.

The Silver Star Medal also has been awarded to Robert E. Jansen, 20, signalman 3/c, of Wahconah st., Pittsfield. Jansen coolly ignored a continuous strafing from Axis planes to check a spreading blaze aboard a landing craft.

Marine Regimental Surgeon, Lieut.-Comdr. Harry P. Hopkins of Chatham, received the Bronze Star for meritorious service throughout three major engagements during three Solomon Islands campaign.

The ticklish job of clearing a path through enemy mine fields during the amphibious assault on Sicily earned Lieut. Arthur G. Wood, Jr., 36, of 7 Merrit st., Marblehead, an official commendation from the Navy Department.

Fortunes

their futures revealed through the crystal ball.

They paid fees from 50 cents to $10 for visits ranging from a few minutes to an hour with seers, male and female, suave and smooth, old cronish and haggish, young, old, attractive, ugly, pinneat, blowsy.

They had their futures revealed and the fate of their fighting men told—the fate of non-existent husbands and sweethearts and brothers.

They were told some things which might have driven emotional minds to the breaking point.

They were told some things which might have driven weak minds to self-destruction.

They found a vicious racket and they will now expose it in a series of articles that is a challenge to law-makers and law-enforcers.

Steady Income

Early in the investigation we received the following report from Miss Warren, one of the ablest and most conservative of newspaperwomen:

"One thing is clear, even from the briefest investigation of fortune tellers in Boston: they are finding the heart-breaks occasioned by war a steady source of soaring income.

"It is strictly an under-cover business. They are not required to register or be licensed by city or state, hence are without supervision of any kind.

"There is no formal list by which their exact number can be ascertained. When city directories are compiled, few of them acknowledge their profession is forecasting the future.

"Their one common characteristic is their abhorence of the term 'fortune teller'. The lowest among them is outraged at the term, claiming to be a "clairvoyant', a 'medium', a 'palmist', an 'astrologist', ad infinitum.

"The frustrated, the insecure, the unstable, the distraught and frightened are turning to them in increasing numbers as the war progresses.

Fertile Field

"Boston's augmented population is a fertile field, particularly among those 'waiting', young wives left here at the husband's home ports while ships are at sea, families who have moved here to be nearer Camp Devens, Edwards, Squantum, and other war-drawn individuals to this locality.

"Lost and lonely in a strange city, they try to find surcease from their worry about absent loved ones by consulting the soothsayers.

"A mind weakened by worry or loneliness is a 'natural' for these fakers. They are swift to scent a psychosis and neuroses are just so many gifts from heaven—a few soothing words and their subjects are steady sources of income for months, returning often for their particular palliative, which comes high—from $1 to $10 for a few minutes' talk.

"Strangely enough, few of Boston's fortune tellers resemble the shabby, sinister figures usually associated with the calling. Some of them are cheerful buxom housewives.

"Yet armed with a crystal ball, a pack of cards, a small hand cushion or a few charts (sometimes placed on some nondescript table in the center of hum-drum living rooms) these so-called clairvoyants dispense a brand of spurious prognostications, which, while at times harmless, more often than not, causes great harm to their gullible subjects.

Not Well Educated

"Of those I have interviewed so far only two hit anything right and then it was obvious that this was due to their exceptional intelligence.

"As a class, they are not well educated. Many never attended high school. Their age generally is around 40 and upwards. But they are all exceptionally shrewd. They can, in an instant, size a person's appearance and make an accurate estimate of that person's traits. While defining these, they ask leading questions. The subjects are usually so impressed at their ability to divine the obvious that they divulge, unawares, what is closest to their hearts.

"After that it's 'duck soup,' with the customer neatly in the bag for repeat performances in the higher brackets, instead of the initial $1 or $2 readings.

"Just now a most popular question is: 'When will the war be over?' Hundreds of people crowd their lairs just to ask that one question—and they undertake to answer it by crystal, palm reading, cards, numbers, or even just 'vibrations.' So far no two fortune tellers that I have consulted have been able to agree on a date. Some of the more cheerful give it four months, while the downright gloomy say two years and more.

Brighten Outlook

"Most of them when consulted about service men who are 'missing' profess to see them still alive—and, whether dispensing false hope or not, endeavor to brighten the outlook of those who consult them on such tragic subjects.

"But others prey on their victims and conjure up horrendous pictures of 'seeing' the missing one maimed, or lost in a jungle, or in unsound mind, or starving while hiding in foxholes.

"Horrible as this is, it usually brings the client back—a soul in pain from lack of news is apt to seek any expedient, just for a chance of discussing the lost one.

"It takes only a simple trick to destroy a person's credence in their pretension to knowledge of the future.

"Consult several of them, assuming a different role with each. Their vaunted psychic vibrations fail them altogether. Not one was able to pierce through this subterfuge (not ably enacted, either) when I tried it recently. A droop of the eyebrow at one of their questions will lead them completely astray. After such an experiment no sane person could ever believe in their infallibility. They can be fooled even more easily than the poor deluded ones who buy their spurious heart's ease."

Good, Bad Tidings

As the investigation proceeded, Miss Farlow, top writer and reporter, submitted the following interim report:

"Camouflaged with service insignia and woebegone expressions, we have had a total of 30 readings. We have received both good and bad tidings from non-existant spouses overseas, who have been 'placed' for us in the Army, Navy, Air and Marine Corps, and in such far-flung stations as Italy, the Pacific and England. They have been described as officers and enlisted men; as wounded, well, and prisoners—even as dead.

"Although the psychic set runs a gamut of type, prosperity and age, the amazing thing is not its members' variety, but how very much they are alike. Except for one outstanding exception, the mediums all swallowed the feeble bait of the patriotic lapel ornaments.

"The reporters accepted messages from 'dead' relatives, including one very-much-alive mother, and from friends and kinspeople neither they nor mediums ever had known. The reporters were promised dozens of letters from friends, sweethearts, relatives and husbands dreamed up for the occasion. Two of the omniscient said one of the reporters was involved in an estate settlement, which she is not, and one said the reporter will get '$10,000, exactly $10,000, through a death,' supposedly of her husband overseas.

Sly Hints

"Many of the mediums, believing the reporters wed to servicemen abroad, have hinted slyly at other boy friends here on the home side of the waters, and by implication have condoned affairs with these men.

"One of the women was vicious to the point of sadism. She 'saw' the 'husband' of one reporter wounded and a prisoner. 'His mind is gone," she said. 'This is war. If you could see him, you wouldn't know him. He isn't the handsome man you said goodbye to. He is disfigured.'"

The investigations continued and the stories were prepared. We feel that publication of these stories will alone do much to end the racket for the time being, but there is an inescapable conclusion that stricter enforcement of existing law is necessary and a revision of the Massachusetts General Laws may be in order for permanent correction.

There is no intent in this series to be critical of police enforcement to date. The ways of this racket are secret and devious, and its existence on such a scale was hardly to be guessed. As to the future, it is believed that more effective enforcement of the existing laws will be possible, even though the statute which makes fortune telling and similar practices illegal is perhaps not too explicit.

Although it may be difficult to obtain corroborative evidence in many cases of this nature, the police are assured of the full cooperation of this newspaper and its reporters in obtaining such evidence.

Worried Women

Investigators found the clientele of these fortune-tellers to be, for the most part, not highly educated women. They are mostly women in moderate circumstances. In most cases, too, they are worried women without church and religious associations, tricked into turning to fake seers and phoney soothsayers for the consolation, the faith, that is to be found only in God.

This is a problem to which the churches as well as the communities well may turn their hand.

It is not the intent to place all fortune tellers under a blanket indictment as participators in this racket. The investigators found some who were non-committal when it came to commenting upon the fate of men overseas, encountered others who were harmlessly general in their answers;—indeed found two who startled them not only with honesty but with accuracy!

But many, many bad conditions were disclosed—so many in proportion to the number of case histories that there is clearly shown to exist an extremely harmful and widespread racket, one that is probably national in scope and a particularly dangerous menace in the larger cities.

The reports of the young women investigators, their detailed experiences and transcriptions of conversations, will begin in the Boston American tomorrow.

REVERSE EFFECT

"It is now obvious that Stalin's desire to divide Polish-Americans through using Fr. Orlemanski as a tool has had a reverse effect."

Msgr. Bojanowski, who is pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Worcester, asserted that Stalin was "not sincere in his pose of being a friend of the Catholic Church."

"If he is a friend of the Catholic Church, why doesn't Stalin free the 2000 Polish Catholic priests he has held so long in Polish concentration camps?" the monsignor asked.

Meanwhile, it was reported that Springfield diocesan officials probably would make a complete report of Fr. Orlemanski's case to Archbishop Amleto Cicognana, the apostolic delegate at Washington.

If Fr. Orlemanski wishes to communicate to the Pope the message he said he received from Stalin, he may do so through the apostolic delegate, Fr. Shea said, with the permission of the bishop. The bishop, however, will not seek any report on the details of the trip, he said.

EXPLAINS SUSPENSION

The formal reason for Fr. Orlemanski's suspension and "silencing" by Bishop O'Leary, Fr. Shea said, was that the pastor was absent from his parish on a Sunday without permission from his diocesan superior.

Another circumstance which would have provided grounds for his suspension was "treating with Communists" which has been condemned in papal encyclicals, according to church authorities.

Stanley Ciak, treasurer of the parish St. Joseph Society and also of the Polish National Home founded by Fr. Orlemanski, said he believed the priest had left Springfield to go to Buffalo, N. Y.

Ad Club Spurs Paper Drive

Boston hotels and large book publishing concerns will spearhead this week's drive in the Advertising Club of Boston's campaign to salvage business office waste paper.

Charles A. Coyle, excutive secretary of the Boston Hotel Ass'n, sent a special bulletin to all hotel officials urging them to co-operate fully. Publishing firms also announced they would dig out all types of paper.

As the office cleanout drive entered its third week, State House employes today were still bringing out salvaged paper from state departments.

Meanwhile, the Boston Salvage Committee started a paper collection in West Roxbury and Roslindale today. Residents were requested to place paper in bundles or cartons at curbs on regular rubbish collection days, and to hold their rubbish until next week.

Do you know these men?
A doctor, a lawyer, a senator. Men in the news—making history. All with one thing in common. A demand for the prestige of well-tailored clothes. But price alone does not influence their habits. That's why they wear Bond Park Lane suits. After all, can you think of any needlework finer than the Rochester kind? That's Park Lane! Can you find better woolens than those made by our most renowned American weavers? That's the only kind you'll see in Park Lane suits. And for perfection in fit, what better assurance than Bond's 81 different sizes and models. How come only $32.00? Because more men wear Bond Park Lane suits than any other suits at, or near, their price. It's the law of volume—Bond volume—working to your everlasting advantage. Make the most of it!

Veterans' Friend

Q—My husband has just been promoted to a staff sergeant. I was receiving family allowances and allotment, but now he says he is going to draw rental allowance instead. Is that possible?—A. W., Newton.

A—No. As he was promoted to staff sergeant after Nov., 1943, his application for rental allowance would not be accepted. Only men who held that grade, or higher, and were receiving or had applied for rental allowance before Nov. 1, 1943, may draw it. When family allowance and allotment is paid to the dependents of a soldier now, and he is promoted to a grade above that of sergeant, there is no discontinuance of payment.

Q—Before being inducted into the Army, my son turned over his pay to me. Both my husband and self work, but I would like to know if I am entitled to an allotment of $37. That is $22 from my son's pay and $15 from the government. —J. N., East Boston.

A—A certificate of dependency must be completed showing a substantial degree of dependency upon the soldier before application can be made. The certificate should be sent to the soldier to file with application. Approval is not given until the soldier's organization is contacted and his consent obtained. The application is then subjected to investigation.

Q—My discharge is W. D. A. G. O. Form No. 280. I was discharged last May. Am I entitled to mustering-out pay?—S. I., Hingham.

A—It depends upon what authority you were discharged. If you provide additional information will be glad to help.

Q—Is there such a thing as a $100 clothing bounty given honorable discharged veterans who have no civilian clothes to wear after getting out of service?—T. V. W., Boston.

A—Your mustering-out pay should provide you with sufficient funds to purchase such needed clothing. There are no other funds available. The clothing bounty measure has been suspended for several years.

All questions submitted to the Veteran's Friend will be answered in the columns of the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser. Veterans or their families desiring personal answers are requested to enclose self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Safe to Plant All Crops Except Peas

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head, Vegetable Garden Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Boston Record-American-Advertiser demonstration garden on Boston Common.

The planting of early crops apparently is a matter of some misunderstanding, so perhaps it is well to restate now that it is still safe to plant all of them, with the exception of peas.

Broccoli, lettuce, beets, carrots, cabbage, onions and radishes still can be planted. Do not give up on these crops, even if you have been delayed in planting up to now.

Due to unseasonal weather many are planting the tender crops—it will be well to wait another week or ten days in most cases. It is also too early for tomatoes and peppers. The plants are already going fast, however, so it will be well to order your supply.

Cutworms are already on the march and doing considerable damage. Use poison bran mash as directed in last Sunday's article. These insects are probably ahead of schedule because of the warm weather.

SOIL DRYING

In some cases the soil is drying out on the surface. Do not make the mistake of watering too soon—a little dry weather encourages root development and your plants will stand up longer against the summer heat. It may be necessary to water plants that are being set out, however.

Continue to cultivate your early crops and work the soil over for late crops. This will help to conserve moisture. Do not hill crops. There is a lot of this being done and there is no justification for this. Level, shallow culture is the only practical method.

CARROTS

This hardy root crop is probably the most valuable from a food standpoint. It will produce more per square foot than any of the other root crops. Although it is a cool weather crop it will grow throughout our summer season, and can be planted from April 15 to August 1. For home gardeners the medium roots are considered best. These should be planted in shallow drills 12 inches apart. The seed need only be covered about one-half inch. As soon as this crop breaks through the ground, hoe carefully and weed before the crop gets too far along. In general it is not necessary to side dress this crop with fertilizer. Thin when two inches high allowing two to three inches between plants depending on varieties.

The vest varies for "V" gardeners can be chosen from Chantenay, Coreis or Nantes, or Tendersweet. For late use and storage, good stans of Danvers or Hutchinson will be good.

Pope to Talk

BERN, May 15 (AP)—A Chiasso dispatch to Lausuisse said Pope Pius XII would make an important declaration on social questions Sunday, May 28.

Lays Confession To Flatfoot Fear

It made him nervous to be "in a cell with a lot of flatfoots around," Angelo Fenno, 18, of Parris st., East Boston, complained in the police lineup today.

Therefore, he added, if he had signed any admission of larceny, as the police claimed, they could cross it off as worthless.

Fenno was booked on suspicion in connection with thefts of a $450 watch and a $200 ring from downtown stores. A Winthrop man, suspected of being a receiver of stolen goods, was also in custody.

Employes from each store picked Fenno out of the lineup as the man who took the jewelry.

Fenno was arrested in Central sq., East Boston, after a battle with Special Officer Timothy F. Sullivan, who also arrested the Winthrop man.

In complaining about his night in a cell, Fenno added: "My nerves are all shot anyway. I was in the Marines a year. All you have to do is check the Navy Department about my nerves."

Police said they would seek a larceny warrant today.

THE PRIME OF LIFE CAN BE PROLONGED

Dr. Henry G. Sherman Says:

"A generous supply of Calcium results in better development of the young, a higher form of adult health, and a longer lease of what we may call the prime of life—the period between maturity and old age."

FOOD RATIONING MAY NOT SUPPLY SUFFICIENT CALCIUM SAYS CLAUDE WICKARD, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Calcium is more often deficient in the diet than any other mineral. Calcium deficiency is a form of malnutrition that may be the cause of acidity, nervousness, fatigue, weakened heart muscles and other effects which hasten the onset of "OLD AGE" and shorten the "PRIME OF LIFE."

AM I NERVOUS?

Sleeplessness with ragged, jagged nerves, may be due to a calcium deficiency which upsets the parathyroid glands causing intense sensitivity of the whole nervous system

DO I TIRE EASILY?

A calcium starved body tires easily. A calcium deficiency may cause an upset nerve system, less strength, energy and vitality. No person can be normal without a sufficient supply of calcium.

AM I OLD AT 40?

Old at 40, evidences of early aging, perhaps at 20 or 60, may be due to calcium deficiency. Calcium is needed, in adequate amount, in the repair and growth of body organs, tissues, cells. If your health is impaired, if you are run down, tired, old at 40 and nervous because you do not get enough Calcium or Phosphorus or Vitamin D or Vitamin B1 add KAL to your diet. See how much better you feel after KAL helps to build up, then maintain a normal Calcium-Phosphorus balance and help overcome the ill effects to a deficiency of the vital elements KAL so richly supplies.

Prayer's Power

THE POWER of prayer is great beyond human comprehension. All churches recognize this fact. Civilized man has always known it.

In an era of widespread disaster and suffering, prayer and its power are especially important.

The person who asks God's help and guidance does not live alone.

He is not fated to grope uncertainly in a perilous world of darkness.

He can be sure that the hand and will of his Saviour sustain him.

And no matter what happens, he is confident that Divine justice and mercy will in the end prevail.

The past week gave us a convincing illustration of the efficaciousness of prayer.

Richard Deming, a 23-year-old fighter pilot from Ilion, N. Y., had been reported as missing in action in the Pacific on April 26.

Richard's 8-year-old brother Robert resolved to help in the only way he knew. He prayed. Each night he knelt by his bed and asked:

"Please God, let us have a letter from Richard dated April 29."

Robert reasoned that a communication written three days after his brother's officially recorded disappearance would be proof that the brother was alive.

At 11 o'clock on the morning of May 11 the postman stopped at the Deming home and tucked a letter under the door.

The letter was from Richard. AND IT WAS DATED APRIL 29!

Richard wrote that he was in a base hospital somewhere in China, after suffering a fractured left arm in a crash landing.

MILLIONS of parents, wives and friends of the servicemen engaged in battle or awaiting the imminent invasion of Europe can and should derive hope from young Robert Deming's inspiring experience.

He did not seek his brother's whereabouts through the ouija board.

He did not place his trust in tea leaves, playing cards, palmistry, crystal gazing or trances.

He knew that he could speak to God without elaborate devices. And thus he spoke, with indescribably happy results.

Churches of all creeds and denominations are open for prayer.

Charitable and merciful works, pleasing to God, are begging support in all communities.

Let us go to our churches. If we have money to spend, let us contribute it to the things that honor God and proclaim His goodness.

Thus we shall earn His blessings for ourselves and our loved ones at home and far away.

It is natural that the relatives of endangered fighting men should strive to bridge the gap of time and space that separates them from their loved ones.

But that hardly excuses the false assumption of many distraught persons that the solace and serenity available only in God may be found in tea leaves, playing cards, trances and sundry mumbo jumbo.

Regular Paper Donations

PUBLIC SUPPORT of the waste paper campaign ensures the continued operation of many essential war industries.

But we must not rest on our laurels. What we have done is only a good beginning. Regularly, as long as the emergency lasts, it will have to be repeated.

John T. Kiley, WPB official, says:

"Paper mills face the summer with considerable fear that local salvage committees will reduce their efforts as the vacation months arrive, and thereby slow down vital production."

We can and should make this a groundless fear by weekly paper hunts in homes and offices.

WASHINGTON, May 15—I called up headquarters of the Republican National Committee today and got talking to James P. Selvage, the Republicans' head barker, or ballyhoo man.

"Do you have any information," I asked, "as to whether Vice-President Henry A. Wallace will be a delegate to your national convention?"

"I know it is very hot today," replied Mr. Selvage, "but I am surprised it has hit you so hard. If you will just apply ice to the back of your neck for an hour or so your memory probably will be restored and you will recall that Vice-President Wallace is not a Republican!"

"He isn't?" I gasped. "Then who is?"

"Plenty of people," snapped Mr. Selvage. Mr. Selvage by the way, is quite a snapper. Turtles have been known to turn livid at his approach.

His snapping did not terrify me, however, because I was across town, at the other end of a telephone. So I said:

"Well, do you think Mr. Wallace will be a delegate?"

"I am not paid for doing any thinking along those lines," snapped Mr. Selvage, "but it so happens I have an Iowa man here in my office. If you will wait a minute I will consult him."

Mr. Selvage came back on the wire to report that his Iowa man thought it was highly unlikely that the Vice-President would be a delegate.

"It is not usually done," he explained. "You will probably recall that Mr. Hoover, while President, never was a delegate from California."

"Too bad," I murmured. "And Mr. Hoover was such a nice man too!"

Mr. Selvage said he was sure Mr. Hoover would be glad to hear that.

"There is another matter on which I would like some information," I continued. "It has nothing to do with Wallace, so maybe you will have the answer. It is a matter that was brought up a few days ago by Mr. Arthur Godfrey, the prominent radio commentator.

"Mr. Godfrey said he thought there were great prospects for the establishment of a new industry—that of painting mustaches on Willkie buttons in Wisconsin.

"Mr. Godfrey, who is a very constructive type, takes the stand that it would be in line with the War Production Board's salvage campaign and should be acclaimed by practically one and all, including Donald Nelson.

"Mr. Godfrey argues that all those Willkie buttons could be saved, because, with the application of a little ink, or maybe crayon, they would become wonderful Dewey buttons. What do you think about this proposition?"

Mr. Selvage made choking noises that undoubtedly would have delighted the entire New Deal, could they have heard them.

BUT, MY original question still unanswered, I called up the Democratic National Committee and repeated it to Mr. Paul Porter, who has the same kind of job as Mr. Selvage. I admitted I had called up the Republicans first, and this seemed to intrigue Mr. Porter mildly.

"I thought it was the thing to do," I explained. "My experience in this town is that if you want to know anything about the Republicans you call the Democrats and vice versa. It has always worked out well, up to now."

Oddly enough, Mr. Porter made strange noises, too, although I think Mr. Selvage outdid him by at least two gurgles.

"I am almost certain Mr. Wallace will not be a delegate," said Mr. Porter. "It is not usually done. Anyway, I do not think Iowa has selected its delegation yet.

"But it so happens I have an Iowa man here. I will ask him."

While waiting, I asked myself why both gentlemen happened to have an Iowa man on tap, but I will not repeat the answers I got as they were too silly.

Mr. Porter sounded somewhat surprised when he came back on the line.

"The Iowa delegation," he reported, "has been selected. There are 20 delegates, all pledged to Roosevelt.

"Moreover, Mr. Wallace is a delegate. Not only that, but he is chairman of the delegation!"

MR. PORTER said that Mr. Wallace would be a delegate-at-large.

"You mean," I gasped, "that he is to be allowed at large? I did not think the Democrats would take a chance like that."

For some reason, Mr. Porter ignored the latter question. Maybe he decided it was too hot to get into a serious political debate.

Visions of Mr. Wallace, leading the Iowa parade down the aisles, carrying a banner, kept plaguing me the rest of the day. If I don't see another thing at the Democratic Convention I must see that!

Do you suppose Mr. Wallace will cheer like anything, whistle and stamp, when he announces that Iowa wishes to nominate its favorite son—Henry Agard Wallace?

She has two eyes, so soft and brown—
Take care!
She gives a side glance and looks down,
Beware! Beware!
Trust her not,
She is fooling thee!
—LONGFELLOW.

BROWN-EYED female subscribers continue to deny their type is flirtatious. The evidence is against them. Above is but one of the several thousand references to this matter made by men of experience. Also, consider "I Just Can't Make My Eyes Behave," the ditty popularized by Anna Held, which includes the lines: "I just can't make my eyes behave, two bad brown eyes. I am their slave."

In a forthcoming film Rosalind Russell will have 57 changes of costume. If this isn't the record for costume changes in a film or play, what is? And here is a query to test your powers of observation: Name a film in which the female star wore the same costume throughout the picture . . . Indications are that not many young men working on farms, including those under 26, will be drafted. Too bad. Those husky farmers make good soldiers. However, generally speaking, the city-bred lad makes a better fighting man than the boy from the country. The city lads are more resourceful. Much better in a pinch.

SIDELIGHTS: Tony Mullane was the only ambidextrous pitcher in the history of major league baseball. Too bad another like him has not been developed. A man able to throw with either hand would be a great box office attraction, to say nothing of his ability to bewilder and irritate opposing batters . . . "So somebody named Susie in California thinks she is wonderful because she does her housework in two hours," writes a Bostonian. "Gertrude has always worked out well, up to now."

"Hey! Whose bright idea is this?"

By George Dixon

By E. V. Durling

Hayes, Jr., a young mother of Boston, works eight hours a day as a mechanic; she also does all her housework and in addition appears nightly at one of our town's famous night clubs . . . There are about 3,836,000 men in the 4-F draft classification. What is the cause of this? Are the physical requirements of the armed services pegged too high? Or isn't the current younger male generation as physically fit as it should be?

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—My wife not only misplaces handbags, she also loses gloves. Has your Horses & Women Department any suggestions on the handling of a glove-losing wife? A—A solution of problem of wives losing handbags and gloves is still baffling our Horses & Women Department. Only progress made is a suggestion that husbands order their wives to use the shoulder-strap type of handbag and have in this bag a special place to put gloves when not being worn . . . Q—Is it cruel to have a Doberman Pinscher live in a two and a half-room apartment? A—Not if the apartment is near a park or place where the dog can get plenty of exercise. As long as he gets enough to eat, plenty of exercise and is with his folks a dog is happy.

HUSBANDS: The Husbands' Protective Association of New Haven, Ct., now in its sixth year, is still going strong. Members of this association have expressed themselves as interested in the matter of wives knowing more about diets and balanced meals. In fact, the New Haven HPA is gathering diet information and passing same on to wives. In the future these husbands will politely, but firmly insist that all meals served in their homes be of the balanced diet variety. Not so long ago the New Haven HPA and their wives appeared on "The Battle of the Sexes" radio program. In a general intelligence and information test held on that occasion the husbands won easily. This, of course, has aided them in obtaining the proper respect from their wives.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 15—Rouben Mamoulian has asked to be released from directing "Laura" and Otto Preminger, the producer of this much discussed movie, will direct the picture. The trouble is a difference of opinion of the psychological treatment of the story and character. The two men could not see eye to eye and so Mamoulian stepped out.

"Laura," based on Vera Caspery's mystery drama, is one of the pictures—"Sunday Dinner With a Soldier" is the other—that is bringing about the $600,000 lawsuit which 20th Century-Fox filed against Jennifer Jones when she did not report for work. Gene Tierney and Clifton Webb are the stars.

THE FREDRIC MARCHES—bags, baggage and children—reach here in mid-June for the summer, and unless Freddie has another one of those quick changes of mind he'll play the Ralph Bellamy role in "Tomorrow the World."

He saw the play and liked it and now he's reading the script and has signified approval in the way it has been adapted. The story has great value, since it deals with our duty to the youth of Germany (the children) to make them see how wrong their teachings under the Hitler regime have been for their own moral welfare.

IF WALT DISNEY can borrow Benny Goodman from 20th he'll do a feature on the development of modern music (swing to you)—and that comes straight from Walt. He is apparently a wild-eyed Goodman fan because when I asked about making the movie he said, "The whole deal hinges on whether I can get Goodman. If 20th gives the necessary okay, I want to make a picture that will be part people and part cartoon, telling the story of the evolution of modern music from jazz to jitterbugging, from swing to sweet."

I suppose I could have suggested to Disney that such a picture could be made with another band leader, but them's fightin' words to a Goodman fan.

JUNE DUPREE, who has been living quietly with the Nigel Bruces, has been told her divorce from Guy Beauchamps, London doctor, has been granted. She hasn't seen her doctor-husband, whom she married when she was 18, since she left London in 1940. June's career and marriage seemed to suffer a setback after she appeared in Alex Korda's remake of "The Thief of Bagdad." She didn't get another job and she couldn't get her freedom. Now she has both her freedom and a good job in the part of the "naughty" girl opposite Cary Grant in "None But the Lonely Heart."

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Binnie Barnes and Capt. "Mike" Frankovich, who returned to town unexpectedly, were at the Clover Club with the Joe E. Browns. I hoped it meant a reconciliation, and still hope they will iron out their troubles. Katie and Joe E. look at the whole thing as a silly quarrel and have done their best to patch things up, but neither wants to discuss the matter. They are so fond of Binnie and Mike and so wise in their attitude that interference in domestic affairs never helps.

WONDER WHY Rita Hayworth and her studio, Columbia, both denied so emphatically that she was to have a baby and then a month later she makes the announcement? On Friday, April 7, I printed that she expected a visit from the stork, and you would have thought I had robbed the studio or caused Rita great financial damage the bitter way in which my item was denied. Why do stars and studios do things of that kind? It is unfair to reporters. It makes you feel the wise thing is to print rumors without checking them. I printed about Rita's forthcoming baby as a fact because I knew it to be true.

VERY FITTING, I should say, that "The Story of Dr. Wassell" is having a bang-up naval premiere here. The date is June 7, when C. B. DeMille and all his stars appear at the movie on the gala night for the Naval Aid Auxiliary. While the Navy Relief Society gets a good hunk of the proceeds of the picture, June 7 belongs to the girls of N. A. A. And it ought to be a big night in our town. The Hal Roaches gave C. B. a grand party when he was in Washington and I am told he and the movie were given a reception to remember.

★ ★ ★

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Louise Albritton's real romance is an overseas pilot and not George Raft; Ruth Hussey's parents are here to stay until after the birth of her baby; the Beverly Hills hotel's "Cooks Night Out" had a gala celebration, with a magazine photographing the stars. Irene Dunne and Dr. Frank Griffen had as their guests the Ray Millands, Josie Wayne, (Mrs. John), who looked a picture in a pink tulle hat, and Loretta Young. Loretta told me she has heard from Lieut.-Col. Lewis, her husband, who has been overseas two weeks. Everyone at our table commented on how well Loretta looks. Walter Pidgeon and Ralph Bellamy were with Verbena Hibbard. Edgar Bergen, Jimmie McHugh, Walt Disney, Anita Louise and scores of other Hollywood celebrities were in the gathering. Edgar put on an impromptu show with Ophelia, and Jimmie played some of his hit numbers. Some of the guests had to leave early for the Felix Young "8:40 Revue."

★ ★ ★

JUST ABOUT THE WHOLE town turned out to help the Naval Aid Auxiliary's cause and to see the new Hollywood show. There are some good numbers and some that are not so good. A complete rearrangement would help considerably. Borah Minevitch was the sailor's favorite—at least that's what the bluejackets told me; Photoplay, at the suggestion of Fred Sammis, launched the search for Faye Emerson's long-lost sister, Virginia, and it was through them she was found.

Storrow Debut in June

By BETTY ALDEN

A SPRING DEBUTANTE who'll certainly draw a stag line of more beaux than she can dance with is pretty Ann Storrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Storrow of Marlborough st.

She's a grandniece of Mrs. James J. Storrow, whose picturesque country estate in Lincoln with its masses of flowering shrubs, formal gardens and spreading lawns will be at its loveliest for Ann's debut party on June's second Sunday. It will be an all-day picnic with a merry program of tennis, swimming, tea dancing and a spread for a select group of Ann's sister debs and their beaux.

Ann will graduate from Winsor a few days before her debut and will enter Bryn Mawr next fall. Last summer she joined the Women's Land Army and worked on a farm in Deerfield.

Upset Stomach?

SOUR TASTE IN MOUTH? BELCHING? GAS PAINS? LIVER, INTESTINAL IRRITATIONS? ON A COLITIS OR ULCER DIET?

Try FOR AMAZING RELIEF with FENUGREEK TEA

FENUGREEK TEA IS A NATURAL HERB — NOT A DRUG!

FENUGREEK is a wonderful herb that has given results to many when other methods failed. It can truly be said that Fenugreek Tea is "A Cup of Good Health from the Good Earth." A cup of this very delicious tea is taken before meals (and upon retiring). This mixes with the food in one's stomach, thus helping to eliminate the poisons that foster stomach troubles. It acts quickly to stop gas pains, sourness and belching. It is not a laxative. Users say it does not gripe. It often tends to make your liver more active and to clear away the old bile from your system.

Fenugreek Tea helps bring out gases and impurities which may have been inside you a long time. It will aid greatly in cleansing your bowels as they were never cleansed before—(gradually, not drastically or severely). It will help make your digestive organs sweet and clean.

If your physician has placed you on an ulcer or colitis diet, you'll enjoy the soothing effects of Fenugreek Tea. Try it very soon!

The stomach lining is a series of small pits. Impurities cling in these pits, often causing serious disorders. The regular use of Fenugreek Tea will help to cleanse them impurities.

Headaches, backaches and that tired-out feeling are often caused by toxic poisons that enter the blood stream because of pockets of impurities in the intestinal tract. Use Fenugreek Tea daily.

The liver, when sluggish and inactive, slows down the "bile flow" causing headaches and lack of energy. Instead of using often harmful "liver pills" use Fenugreek Tea — it's a natural herb product!

Impurities (acid and slime deposits) in kidneys are common causes of rheumatic and neuritic pains and general physical debility. 15 miles of tubing form the kidneys! Try cleansing with Fenugreek!

Restores Youth to Skin

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

THE IMPORTANCE of skin respiration is not news . . . nor is it news that lowered respiration is an indication of age. It is a known physiological fact that respiration decreases with age . . . which accounts for the shrivelling up of our skin the older we get.

But when a cream has for its listinguishing characteristic a skin respiratory factor . . . an incorporated brand-new factor that stimulates skin respiration to act in a more youthful manner . . . and reduce the effect of toxic agents . . . that, my friends, is NEWS . . . great, big beauty news of outstanding importance . . . to every woman who aims to grow old gracefully and beautifully.

This cream is definitely new and different . . . with a story that is a knockout. It is the coming thing in beauty science . . . scientifically sound and logical . . . and remarkably effective in perpetuating youthful resiliency of facial tissues.

When biodynes . . . cellular substances which stimulate and control the well-being of the millions of cells that make up the human body . . . were discovered by a famous scientific research laboratory . . . our knowledge of physiology made a new advance. Now after years of study and experiment . . . it is possible scientifically to produce these biodynes . . . anl this biodyne "R" which stimulates skin respiration is incorporated in this new advance cosmetic cream.

LEAVE IT ON OVERNIGHT

This skin respiratory factor cream . . . the newest ingredient to be added to a cosmetic . . . not only contains a correct and carefully balanced proportion of luxurious emollient oils . . . but, in addition, it contains 2000 units of respiratory biodynes per ounce. You just can't help getting excited over such a product. Day and night treatment is not necessary but desirable. After cleansing the skin in the usual manner . . . apply this cream and leave it on overnight.

Take a look at your skin a week later . . . you'll be amazed. I know; I've tried it . . . and felt the new softness, cleanliness and fresher feeling that has come to my complexion. This cream is exclusive with one Boston shop . . . a demand item from their most exclusive feminine know-it-alls about beauty aids.

For the name of this 24-hour treatment cream, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

AN ADVANCED COSMETIC CREAM . . . an amazing beauty achievement . . . containing not only a correct and carefully balanced proportion of luxurious emollient oils . . . but a skin respiratory factor to assure softness, cleanliness and fresher skin feeling . . . is one of the newest cosmetic developments of this day and age . . . promising greater youthful resiliency of facial tissues and a complexion comparable to M-G-M Starlet Ruth Brady's dazzling loveliness.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, SUNDAY—Friday morning at 9:30 I went out to Forest Glen, the Army convalescent hospital connected with Walter Reed Hospital, and attended an hour of discussion which was part of a series to better prepare citizens for their responsibilities in the future.

In the afternoon I attended the tea given by the Democratic Women's National Council. This is an annual affair, but this year it was given for the girls in the military services, many of whom were present.

On Saturday I attended a luncheon given by the guidance and personnel association of the District of Columbia. It is made up of educators and guidance and personnel workers in government and in schools. They were particularly interested in the problems of young people now preparing for employment in the postwar world.

IN THE AFTERNOON I attended the graduation exercises of another large group of cadet nurses, and I am very proud that so many young women are answering this call to service.

It has been brought to my attention that in New York City, Mayor LaGuardia inaugurated a project known as the Fur Vest Project, which is carried through by the fur industry workers in the city. They asked for donations of used furs, and their workers make these furs into fur lined vests for the Merchant Marine of the United Nations. They go primarily to those who sail the northern seas.

SATURDAY, MAY 13TH, was the day which the American Automobile Ass'n designated as recognition day to honor the 300,000 boys and girls who are serving on school safety patrols throughout the nation. These youngsters have done a remarkably good job, and I think this recognition by the public will give them a sense of importance which they truly deserve.

At noon today we had at lunch another group of veterans who are studying at George Washington University

She's 17, But Feels Older

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I'm just 17 and like many other girls of school age, find my week-ends dateless and empty. I love dancing and all the fun all 17 and 18-year olds like, but as the boys of our age are now in the service or soon to go, I feel more like a wallflower of seventy. The week is filled with homework, but while I used to look forward to week-ends, now I dread them. D. W.

Why don't you 17-year olds who feel like 70 get up a week-end club?

Have some definite object in view like a cooking club where point-free dishes are made, not necessarily sweet stuff, but substantial main dishes. Get your teacher, your clergyman's wife or a Red Cross lady to make suggestions.

Raisin Week--Top Recipes

By MARTHA LEE

THIS WEEK, May 14 -20, marks the 35th anniversary of the oldest food festival in the country—National Raisin Week.

This year perhaps the most fitting way to celebrate the raisin festival is in the kitchen, for wartime economy has taught us that the raisin is a godsend to shortage cookery. Raisins in cereals, cup cakes, cookies, candies, fruit breads, compotes, salads, pies and cakes impart a sweetness of their own, and save using rationed sugar.

RAISIN PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

¾ cup seedless raisins
⅔ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup peanut butter
2 eggs, beaten
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ tsp. salt
2 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. powdered clores
¼ tsp. mace
2 tsp. cinnamon
¼ cup milk

Rinse the raisins in hot water; drain and cut in half. Work the shortening with a spoon, until fluffy and creamy; then add the sugar gradually, while continuing to work with a spoon until light. Add peanut butter and beaten eggs, and mix well. Sift together the dry ingredients, and add alternately with the milk to the shortening mixture. Add the raisins and mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased or oiled cookie sheets; flatten with the tines of a fork. Bake in a moderately hot oven of 375 deg. F. for 10 to 12 minutes, or until brown.

Fruit Coffee Cake

Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

Here's a clever culinary trick. Say your pet coffee cake calls for a cupful of raisins, when you have but a scant half-cupful in the larder. Well, then, you can double that precious portion, keep your recipe in balance, and still have a richly fruity filling by pre-cooking the raisins.

RAISIN SAUCE

To ½ cup of raisins add ½ cup of water and boil 2 minutes. Then thicken with 1 tbsp. flour, stirring constantly to keep the sauce smooth. Add 1 tsp. lemon juice and a pinch each of powdered cinnamon and clove. Then cook and proceed according to your usual plan. Pre-cooked this way, each raisin plumps up to twice its normal size, displaces double the space in baking that it does used dry. Here's a recipe that proves the point:

FRUIT COFFEE CAKE

1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tsp. baking powder
⅓ cup sugar
1-3 cup butter or margarine
1 egg, slightly beaten
¼ cup milk
Raisin Sauce (see recipe above)

Sift together dry ingredients. Work in butter so the particles of butter and flour range in size from small peas to large beans. Combine egg, milk and raisin sauce, mixing thoroughly. Make a depression in center of dry ingredients, then pour in liquid mixture, stirring just enough to mix well. Spoon into a buttered tube pan. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 25 minutes, then remove to cookie sheet and spread with confectioner's frosting. Sprinkle with chopped nuts, then return to oven for 2 minutes. Slide onto cake plate. Served hot or cold.

Popular Summer Dress

By BETTINA BEDWELL

AN American classic, just as permanently beloved by folks in this country as Huck Finn is the button-down-the-front Summer dress Women in all the assorted shapes to which the feminine body is addicted wear this dress.

It must be sadly stated that, for [illegible] shapes, particularly those that run to width, this kind of thing is not always the most flattering model. This is why I bring you the news that a designer has thought up a slimming process for our classic.

Miss Dulin sketches the slimmed-down dress, which comes from Henry a la Pensee. The trick is done on a white linen dress, buttoned down the front in the classic way, by putting navy blue bands of linen down the sides, under arms to hem, and by navy epaulette bands across the tops of the shoulders. These last give width at top, and help side lines to make a heavy lady seem slimmer.

Broadway

NEW YORK, May 15—John Hodiak, the actor who made such a sudden hit in "Lifeboat," is the new sensation in Lana Turner's life. MGM, which owns both of them, wishes she'd go back to Steve Crane . . . Things are looking up on Broadway. In the past week, pretty Betty Kaye of La Martinique has received a diamond ring, a fur coat and a daily bouquet of orchids from a gentleman she doesn't know. She sure would like to, though. Glenn Miller probably will be out of uniform within 30 days . . . Network biggies say J. Edgar Hoover is on the brink of inking a radio contract . . . The Henry Ephrons of "Three's a Family" are, appropriately enough, knitting tiny garments . . . Florida divorce laws, within a year, will be attracting more New Yorkers than Reno does now . . . One of the most promising of the screen juveniles, recently inducted into the Army, is hopelessly insane as the result of a fall during maneuvers.

THE PAUL DOUGLASES (Virginia Fields of "Dough-girls") will lullaby in the autumn . . . Joyce Matthews Berle is ailing at Mt. Sinai Hospital . . . . Lois Andrews Jessel will open her own Hollywood restaurant (Well, that's one way of getting a steak out there!) . . . Boston socialite Lucy Cochrane is confusing the locals by dividing her dates between Victor Mature and Raymond Burr, who looks so much like Vic it has everybody arguing . . . The lad for whom Muriel Morris left Red Skelton at the church is a Montana rancher who has more cattle than Red has brass.

THE GIRL with whom Capt. Clark Gable would most like to be marooned on a desert island is Virginia Grey, the Hollywood lovely . . . The night owls report that Louis Bromfield and Chic Farmer (of all collaborations) are doing a scenario called "El Morocco" at the suggestion of Twentieth Century-Fox . . . Andre Kostelanetz won't be able to take his best musicians with him on his overseas trip to entertain the soldiers. Their draft boards won't clear them . . . Miriam La Velle, the dancer, and Bill Callahan, the young hoofer in "Mexican Hayride," are a heartillery barrage . . . Ann Mace, who plays Lohengrin's bride at Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe, is having her marriage annulled . . . Joan Edwards, the songstress, is going in heavily for Long Island real estate.

FRANK SINATRA'S presence at Mt. Sinai has improved his condition, but not anyone else's. The bobby soxers are overrunning the hospital: As far as they're concerned it's now Mt. Sinatra . . . Diane Courtney, the Ruban Bleu chirper, and Victor Borge, the mime, are a Gotham duo . . . Pat Di Cicco would have taken an even more brutal beating than he did in the Copacabana brawl if Joe E. Lewis hadn't stepped in as peacemaker . . . Gertrude (Is she kidding?) Niesen needs five servants to staff the new 14-room duplex she just purchased on Sutton pl. . . . Greta Garbo has had a change of heart, if you believe the Coast rumors. They say (I'll believe it when I see it) that the Sphinx is arranging for radio and canteen appearances.

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, May 15—Billy Wilder, writer and director, was sitting in his office. He decided to phone Joe Sistrom who had been assigned to produce his next picture. There was no answer on the telephone. "That's funny," Billy said to himself, "a producer like Sistrom must have a secretary. At least a girl to answer the phone." At various intervals during the morning, Wilder would put in a call to Sistrom. Never an answer.

At lunch Billy ran into Sistrom in the commissary. "Say," said Billy, "I've been trying to get you all morning. There was no answer. What's the matter, don't you rate a secretary?"

"Sure," said Sistrom, "I have a secretary. Only she's been so busy reading a book all morning that she didn't want to answer the phone. She said she couldn't put the book down, or do any work until she knew how the story would come out. You know how those dames are? Well, any way, here we are. Let's have lunch."

★ ★ ★

BILLY AND Sistrom had a lunch that lasted till three in the afternoon, talking about picture possibilities. Then Billy returned to his office ready to begin dictating some letters. When he got to his desk, his secretary came in and asked: "Is it all right if I go to lunch now?"

"At 3 o'clock?" said Billy. "Why can't you eat at noon the same as anybody else?"

"I'm sorry," said the secretary, "I started a book and got so interested I just had to know what happened."

"Great," said Billy. "Now you just call Joe Sistrom's secretary and see if you and she were reading the same book."

Later that afternoon, Billy's secretary informed him that it was the same book they were reading. "Let me see that book," said Billy. He looked at it, started to read it, and was busy for the remainder of the afternoon.

That evening before leaving the studio Billy Wilder stepped in to see Buddy de Sylva. "I want you to buy a book for me," he said. "It's James Cain's 'Double Indemnity.' If it can keep a secretary from work, another secretary from lunch and me busy all afternoon, it ought to be good enough to hold an audience in a theater."

And after you see the picture, you'll agree with the secretaries and Billy Wilder. I know, for I saw the picture.

THERE HAS never been a better market than now for original stories for the screen. Before I go any further, please don't send me your original stories. I can't do anything for you except to tell you to get yourself an agent and let him submit the story for you to the studios. As I was getting ready to say, the studios are buying more original stories than ever and paying higher prices for them.

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: Although the expression is not part of the basic English used by President Jack Kearney's boys of the Boston bartenders and waiters' union, in New York and other parts of the country the curt sentence that so-and-so "will not dine alone" is most ominous.

★ ★ ★

WHEN A CHOSEN victim is not going to "dine alone," he is about to have a most unwelcome dinner companion, one "Michael Finn" . . . "Michael Finn" is known also as "Mickey Finn," and "he" is a dangerous companion at any time . . . It was "he" ("he" being a figure of speech inasmuch as Michael Finn is a chemical which makes a man violently ill) that really caused the death of the late Rudolf Valentino, according to a legend which persists . . . When the great lover of the screen died, he was supposed to have been a victim of too generous indulgence in tabasco sauce, which he used plentifully as a condiment.

★ ★ ★

BUT VALENTINO, a graduate bus boy, was an overbearing person when dealing with waiters . . . He was also one of the parsimonious tippers, among celebrities, of all time . . . Valentino kept meeting "Michael Finn"—the figurative Michael—in one city after another . . . A horrifying rendezvous with "Michael" in New York finally dealt him his death blow, the story—not printed until now—insists.

★ ★ ★

SPEAKING OF WAITERS, why is it that the gentlemen who bring on the viands and wines are so arbitrary in one respect? If you order a small coffee, the waiter invariably will confirm the order by saying—"One demitasse" . . . Try ordering a demitasse, and see if the waiter doesn't immediately correct you by saying "one small coffee" . . . We quoted the black market price of "nylons" in Boston recently as ranging from $6.50 to $7.00 a pair . . . The nylons, for the most part, are nothing more than rayon with a counterfeit "Dupont" stamping . . . In Mexico City, phony nylons are selling for $10 to $12 a pair, U. S. money . . . Silk stockings—and really silk—are $2 a pair . . . Mexico City is enjoying a tourist season that promises to extend into the summer and beyond . . . In short, the Mexican capital is becoming an all-year-round tourist resort.

★ ★ ★

BOSTONIANS in increasing numbers are making the trek southward to the city which is now the "Paris of the South" (replacing Havana) . . . Joe Roberts, the great horse-trainer, sends up a few interesting facts on life in Me-ji-co . . . The postdebs of Cafe Society are wearing a heavy gold rope bracelet with a large gold Guadalupe medal, with a small padlock . . . Joe says that the only ill-mannered people in Mexico City are the tourists, and—unfortunately—most of them are from North of the border . . . There are no bargains in perfume any longer . . . Original "Christmas Night," for instance, is $50.00 (U. S. money) per ounce.

★ ★ ★

MEXICANS PREFER their own brand of comedy in the nightclubs, and this consists almost solely of imitations and pantomime . . . When Mexicans "boo," they do it by whistling . . . . At the bull fight, women throw their furs, and men their hats, to the winning matador . . . He or his assistants throw them back . . . Good seats (in the shade) at a bull fight cost about $7.50 (U.S.) each, and 40,000 is the average attendance. The fights are held at 4 p. m. Sunday . . . There are no food rations, nor ceiling prices. A T-bone steak, with vegetables, bread and coffee, costs about $1.25.

Week's Auto Deaths Only 3; Sharp Drop

Automobile fatalities last week took a sharp drop, according to Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin, who reported the deaths of only three persons, the smallest number killed in any week since last September.

The fatality scoreboard last week showed six fewer deaths than during the previous week, and also six fewer than during the corresponding period a year ago.

Boys Overseas Yearn For News of Suffolk

By AUSTEN LAKE

'Mid pleasures and palaces some 20 odd thousands of paying guests are swarming into Suffolk Downs for today's annual renewal of the local horse psychosis. With an ease born of 10 years' practice during which they have fed some $225,000,000 into the pari-mutuel choppers, the crowd is streaming into Charley Adams' open air ark like Noah's scriptural beasts, two of every kind, both male and female.

I don't write this for Boston's betting public. No siree! I report to the Boston soldiery in Britain—the kids and men with whom I so recently lived, lads lean as a pool cue, grim as a Garand rifle, tough as a politician's conscience and now poised to carry war's frightful freight across the narrow, watery ditch which separates the coast of England and that olive-green smudge of land which is Nazi-held France. On these rarely clear days this winter we used to stand on the English headlands and see that smear of enemy ground, so near to the eye and yet so inaccessible to the feet. Though it lay on the opposite direction, to our boys, somehow it seemed like the "road back home."

Mosaic of America

HOME isn't just a general word which Webster describes as "one's native land or place."—to be visualized as a schoolboy might study a schoolroom map. Home is that little patch of ground and little lid of sky where each soldier lives in fancy—the neighborhood duck pond, the corner drug store, the green playing fields, the familiar haunts. Put together they form the vast mosaic of America, which no two soldiers see with the same eyes. And home is where each man wants to be with a deep abiding, soul-searing hunger. Failing to be a part of that scene they want to hear about it. Is the traffic still as thick as ever on Washington st.? Can you still buy a bottle of whisky? Do the mobs still storm the race track?

It's no rebuke to our betting people. For the men in mustard, though going through the toughest ordeal known to man, are not resentful toward their sport-going home folk. By long absence and cramped confinement all such scenes as Suffolk are part of a world gradually become so remote that it might as well exist on another planet. Their feeling is one of wondering envy and never marked bitterness.

Fun News Wanted

THUS WHEN the AEF soldier asks for months-old newspapers he doesn't care about such items as war trends, inflation, pyramiding taxation, black markets, factional labor disputes or party politics. He wants to read fun-news down to the very advertising, learn what shows and movies are in town, who is playing at Fenway, whether the horse tracks are open. It's food for his imagination and he wants to recapture some savor of the life he left. Some day he may come back and ask for accounting of our stewardship and get mad about things. But not now! Now seen from his vast distance, home is that heaven where people walk around in untrammeled freedom, buy unrationed stocks from open shelves, spend money for fuzz on the tongue, stomach quakes and emotional spasms. Like they're doing today at Suffolk Downs.

So the long, stucco grandstand, the awninged clubhouse, the gardened lawns and the concrete apron are agog with people, their pockets stuffed with feeding money for the pari-mutuels. Around the paddock rails where the athletic steeds are catching pre-race gasps of fresh air, folk are packed six deep. In the saddling-stalls, jockeys, the little monkey men in their harlequin silks, are listening as their trainers, leathery skinned gnomes bitten by many suns, whisper final instructions.

And the great commonality which forms the backbone, heart, liver and lungs of the horse gambling business, plain Mr. and Mrs. Two-Spot and fancy Mr. Sawbucks hustle to and fro buying cardboard hunches, or nibbling roast weenies and harkening to whisps of wisdom fresh from the barns. It is a sanitary scene, clean with new paint, bright with fluttering flags and alive with credulous optimism.

Bet on Faith

SO LATE Sunday night the last among 1000 sleek animals arrived at Horseville. This morning, like any morning for the next few months, the pixie people and leprechauns of the horse-barns were hooking the hay out of their ears and cussing drowsily over their chamber work as they forked out stall sweepings and breakfasted their beasts on bundled carrot top, dry cereals and tap water.

This afternoon the big glass shed and the little betting booths are crowded with form scholars; polychromed females—some luscious, some tawdry, and masculine types—some clothes-conscious, and some seamy. What do they know about their horse-picks? Yonder fellow stuffing his $6 through the window marked "Straight," knows his dobbin was second last time out; that it won once at Narragansett and was in the pay-off a couple of times at Pimlico. But it had no record at Hialeah or Havre De Grace and the form chart doesn't tell why.

So he doesn't know the horse had a chest rumble in one place and an inflamed hind hock at the other, or anything about the fretful moments it gave its trainer, nor the bitter doseage the veterinaries fed it before its croupy wheeze dwindled. All the bettor knows is what he reads in the little hieroglyphics of the form sheet. So he buys it across the board and whimpers when it finishes out of the money, maybe saying sadly, "Watta flea-bag" and thumbing his chart to seek ways to salvage his lost dough on the next race.

But there I go again, a-drift from my subject. So I will close by telling my oversea G. I.'s that today is the dawn of another whirligig with the afternoon's gold turning to evening's silver light. By 6:30 the action will be over, the horses cooled out and paddocked in their cells; the little flea-men drowsing on their haybales and, except for the feed merchants and rubbish trucks, the stables will be submerged in quiet, waiting for the next day's race-time call to roll around. It's a phase of America at peace amid the war.

Suffolk Downs Set For Grand Opening

By JACK CONWAY

The thoroughbred race horse returned to Massachusetts today with the opening of a 60-day meeting at Suffolk Downs. Post time for the first of eight races was set for 2:30 p. m. and it was expected that racegoers would be furnished with an afternoon of thrills.

It is predicted that a crowd of from 15,000 to 18,000 persons will pour more than $800,000 through the mutuel windows today. As was the case during the recent meeting at Narragansett Park, million dollar days are expected to be common at Suffolk Downs.

The American public is in a betting mood. New England, like the other parts of the country where there is legalized pari-mutuel betting, is giving 100 per cent support to the turf sport.

Pres. Gordon B. Hanlon and Treas. John L. Arnold will take over the actual running of the Suffolk Downs plant today with Charles F. Adams as director of racing and Bruce Wetmore as comptroller. President Hanlon will meet patrons of Suffolk Downs before and during the racing.

GIRLS AT WINDOWS

There will be another innovation at the East Boston track with 60 girl mutuel clerks on the job in the mezzanine. The track management, like the public, is wondering how this experiment will work out.

It is the first time girls have ever been employed as mutuel clerks at a New England race track. They have worked in this capacity at Garden State in New Jersey.

The girls will be paid $6 a day which is the regular wage scale for sellers of mutuel tickets.

Earl Gibson, director of the mutuel plant at Suffolk Downs, declares that the girl clerks, with two exceptions, are all over 30 years of age. Most of them are wives of servicemen.

GANSETT HORSES AT DOWNS

"The Inaugural Handicap," a one-mile event which offers a purse of $2500, will be the opening day's feature. Racing Secretary Charley McLennan has received an attractive list of entries.

Two year olds will receive particular attention. There will be two four and a half furlongs races for two-year-olds this afternoon. These races are certain to be attractive.

Many of the horses that have been racing at Narragansett Park were on today's Suffolk card, and as a result the fans have a good line on their ability. There will also be thoroughbreds racing that have been shipped from Maryland and New York. It will take some time before the public will know what to expect from some of these horses.

The auto parking lots will be open to the public. There will also be ample street car service to the track. Last year the parking lots were closed other than to horsemen, officials and members of the working press. With open parking lots, it is likely that new attendance records as well as mutual marks will be established this season.

PARTIES MARK OPENING

Suffolk Downs has been dolled up for the opening. Numerous luncheon parties were on today in the Paddock Club. There were other luncheon parties in the clubhouse dining room.

A detachment of Marines will raise the colors before the start of the first race. The color bearer, followed by two Marines with rifles and two others as additional guards, will march to the infield just before the horses parade on the track. They will then raise the colors.

It is expected there will be a large number of notables at the races, while the average run of racegoers, who have done much to make the sport the big business it has become, will be out in force.

Braves Have Real Gem in Max Macon

By JOE CASHMAN

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 15—Perhaps the most important cog in this Braves machine, which has rolled to four victories in six starts against the Pirates and Reds on this western jaunt, is a broken down pitcher turned infielder, who wanted to stay handling cogs in a Louisville factory and play weekend ball on the Red Sox farm in the Kentucky metropolis.

That too-long paragraph is another way of saying that Max Macon is proving a whale of a ball player as the Tribe's new first-sacker.

His most recent exploit was to hang out five straight hits to help Ira Hutchinson blank the Redlegs, 6-0, in the nightcap of the Sunday double-header, the first game of which saw "Bucky" Walters give just one single and face but 28 batters in handing the Tribe its first shutout of the campaign.

A broken bat, but clean single to left by Connie Ryan, with two out in the eighth, after "Bucky" had set 23 down in order, robbed the Reds' ace of a perfect game. Not another Brave reached base and it was a shame Bucky didn't make it.

The Warriors' spirit was low after that one. They had failed miserably for the sixth time to render any offensive assistance to Al Javery, who had been victimized by the Walters' classic.

MACON LEADS ASSAULT

But Macon snapped them out of the doldrums in the very first inning of the afterpiece and soon they were attacking as they had on the last three days in Pittsburgh, when they amassed the startling total of 53 hits and 33 runs, including 23 safeties and 16 tallies in the Saturday set-to.

Tommy Holmes, first up in the nightcap against Tomas de la Cruz, highly-touted Cuban rookie, drew a walk. As Senor Tomas let the next pitch go, Holmes broke for second.

Macon laced into the ball and lined a hit-and-run single to right, sending Tommy to third. Then Workman promptly singled a run across, with the first-sacker stopping at second.

Came then the move that really settled this game. Macon set out for third. Catching Steve Mesner sound asleep, he made it with Workman moving to second on a double steal.

Thus a fly by Masi, which otherwise would have been worthless, rescued a tally and Connie Ryan brought in a third with a single. The Braves were clicking again. They just romped to an even split after that.

Max, most anxious to look his best since his family was up from Kentucky, went on to get four more singles in succession, stole another base and drove in another run.

He was never quite as outstanding in any previous tilt, this 25-year-old ex-Cardinal and Dodger portsider, but he's done a bang-up job ever since being inserted into the lineup.

In six games on this trip, he's already stolen five bases. He's come through with a half dozen hit and run safeties. In short, he's set the club afire.

LEAGUE WATCHES MAX

And the word is going around the loop that he's just about the most dangerous base pilfering and hit-and-run artist in the business. When a slinger, Max always was rated a good hitter.

So he was tried at first and in the outfield, when Brooklyn sent him back to Montreal because of his lame wing.

When the Braves drafted him, on the strength of his stick work and speed of foot, he didn't want to report.

He wrote Bob Quinn, saying he preferred to stay in a defense plant at Louisville and play weekends and would Bob please trade him to Yawkey-owned Colonels of Louisville.

Quinn replied that, as a drafted player, he (Max) couldn't be sent anywhere for a year, except back to Montreal.

Max listened to reason and though he didn't report until almost the eve of the race, he's certainly given his all to the Tribal cause ever since.

With a player of Macon's ability and versatility in the lineup, the Tribe can try daring baseball, as typified by base stealing and hit and run plays. They haven't had a player with such assets in years. Nor a better hitter than he's been for them.

In taking eight of their last 11 games, since the opening of the Giants' series in Boston, they've received .437 hitting from their first sacker, who has made 19 hits in 44 times up, over the stretch.

Raynham's Bow With Fancy Card

By BILL BRISTOL

Raynham Park ushers in the 1944 Massachusetts season at its spacious oval tonight with a sparkling ten race card headed by the Inaugural Feature.

Racing Secretary Leo Hartwell has matched the eight standouts in the schooling held during the past week for tonight's feature and the field includes five greyhounds making their local bow. Helen Hunt, Air Master, Lucky Plan, Festival, and Lady's Night will be making their first appearance in this part after highly successful seasons in Florida last winter.

Wintime, Never Lucky and Minka will complete the field. This trio all raced at the Raynham oval last year and they are certain to be well supported.

The feature in addition to five other races will be over five-sixteenths of a mile with four futurity events completing the cards. Later in the season when the racers regain their form longer races will be added to the card.

For the present the distances will be restricted to futurity and five-sixteenths races over the perfectly groomed track.

Managoff Tackles Maurice 'The Angel'

Bobby Managoff, Chicago, has been signed by Promoter Paul Bowser to face Maurice "The Angel" Tillet at the Arena Wednesday night in place of John Katan in the feature of the weekly wrestling program. Katan suffered an injury last week and requested that he be allowed to withdraw from the main bout to a place on the supporting card.

Katan will now open the program against Frank Judson. Other matches pit Jack Clayburne against Kemol Abdel Rahman in the semi-final and Jack Ross against Marvin Jones.

Bowling Champion Wins

MILWAUKEE, May 15 (AP)—Ned Day of Milwaukee, world match game bowling champion, defeated Adolph Carlson of Chicago by 1280 pins in their 54-game match which was concluded on Day's home alleys. The totals for the match were Day 11,619 and Carlson 10,411. Day added 57 pins to his lead in the final series of nine games.

Jones Undecided on Withers

BALTIMORE, May 15 (AP)—Pensive, the ninth horse in turf history to win both the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, was prepared today to leave for Belmont Park to point for the Belmont Stakes, third leg of the triple crown, possibly by way of the Withers.

Trainer Ben Jones, who preceded his Calumet Farm Stable to New York, still had not decided whether he would start Saturday's Preakness winner in the Withers, mile race to be contested this Saturday.

Among the 33,011 persons who saw Warren Wright's chestnut son of Hyperion charge from behind to win the richest of 54 Preakness runnings, there were many who doubted that the colt would be at his best over the shorter distance.

For Pensive didn't really start to run until the field of seven had gone three-quarters of a mile, and he was still in third place to Mrs. Payne Whitney's Stir Up and George D. Widener's Platter as they turned for home.

Platter soon collared Stir Up and then lugged in toward the rail as little Conn McCreary and Pensive came winging by at the 16th pole to earn a three-quarter length victory and the winner's check for $60,075. He ran the mile and three-sixteenths in 1:59 1-5.

EARNINGS $139,475

Pensive thus boosted his earnings for 1944 to $139,475 and won the seventh Maryland Stake triumph for Wright's Calumet horses. The $142,705 which the Calumet color-bearers picked up at Pimlico, together with their winnings in Florida and Pensive's Derby check, ran the total for the young season to $250,840—only some $17,000 short of their figure last year, when they topped the country.

All this led Wright to remark cautiously after the Preakness, "It's been a nice spring."

Stir Up, third in both Derby and Preakness, left yesterday for Belmont, as did Platter. Pensive will be shipped tonight.

Saturday's Pimlico crowd, which made Pensive a $5.30 for $2 favorite, sent a record Maryland wagering total through the mutuel windows, betting $1,758,588 on the eight races and the daily double. The Preakness handle was $332,108, also a Maryland record for one race.

Walters' One-Hitter Best in 24 Seasons

By TED MEIER

Bucky Walters, star righthander for the Cincinnati Reds, yesterday just missed becoming the first pitcher in 22 years to hurl a perfect game in the major leagues. He pitched to only 28 batters.

Working the first game of a twin bill against the Boston Braves at Crosley Field, Walters retired the first 23 men to face him. Then, with two out in the eighth, Connie Ryan, Braves' second sacker, singled over third base. He was the only Boston player to get on base.

It was the nearest to a perfect game in the majors since Charley Robertson of the Chicago White Sox turned the trick against Detroit on April 30, 1922.

Walters won his one-hitter, 4 to 0 for his fifth straight win, but Ira Hutchinson kept the Reds from sweeping the bargain bill. He scattered eight Reds hits for a 6 to 0 Brave triumph in the nightcap.

YANKS-CARDS WIN

The New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals each tightened their grip on first place in the American and National League, respectively. The Yanks beat Cleveland twice, 4 to 3 in 13 innings and 8-4 before 41,628 paid at the Yankee Stadium, the largest crowd of the 188,166 fans who watched the eight Sunday double-headers. Johnny Lindell's 13-inning single won the opener while Don Savage's three-run homer clinched the afterpiece.

The second place Phillies went down twice before the Cards at St. Louis, 6 to 3 and 1 to 0. Big Mort Cooper won his second game in the opener while George Munger bested Southpaw Al Gerheauser in the nip-and-tuck second game.

Dizzy Trout and Johnny Gorsica pitched the Detroit Tigers out of last place in the American loop. They beat the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 1 and 9 to 0, to shove the Sox into the basement. Gorsica twirled a three-hitter for the shutout. He faced only 29 batters.

ATHLETICS WIN TWO

Pittsburgh climbed into the National League first division by beating the Giants twice, 1 to 0 and 8 to 2. Rip Sewell yielded only six hits in defeating Bill Voiselle in the opener.

Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics took both ends of their twin bill from the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 3 in 11 innings and 2 to 0. Ford Garrison's fifth hit of the game won the opener, while Frankie Hayes' two-run homer won the nightcap for Luman Harris. The double win put the A's back in the first division.

Washington split with the Chicago White Sox. Dutch Leonard whitewashed the Sox in the opener, 4 to 0. A ninth-inning rally, featured by Thurman Tucker's two-run single, won the nightcap for Chicago, 6 to 4.

Brooklyn beat the Chicago Cubs, 4 to 2, in the first game of a bargain bill before 32,166, but lost the second, 8 to 7, after enjoying a 7 to 1 lead going into the eighth. The Cubs scored five runs in the eighth and won the game with two more in the ninth. Roy Hughes' single drove in the winning run.

Lawley Faces Crown Holders

Sitting comfortably on top of the heap, Lawley's, the early pace setter in the Boston Park League, meets its first real opposition tonight in the Casey Club, defending champion, when the two tangle at the Dorchester Town Field.

While the competition that the Dorchester ship builders met during the first week of play wasn't any too soft, Hal Crosby's club will have to be at its best to get by Casey's as the defenders have improved greatly with every game. If early games are any criterion the game shapes up as a pitchers' battle from start to finish as Bud Donald, loser to the powerful Navy Yard a week ago while pitching a two-hitter, will take care of mound duties for the Caseys and Mike Mather will take his turn for Lawley's.

Larry Kelley, former Red Sox farm hand, will be shooting for his second consecutive triumph when he hurls for the Navy Yard tonight against the hard luck West Roxbury team at Lee Park, South Boston.

School Baseball Titles at Stake

By MIKE GILLOOLY

A pair of league baseball championships may be virtually decided this week before the Belmont Relay Carnival rolls around Saturday afternoon with Arlington High School romping to the Suburban crown and Medford blasting its way to a berth in the Eastern State playoffs through the Greater Boston Circuit.

Winners of both loops are more or less automatic guests in the championship competition to be held next month in the big league ball parks by the Schoolboy Writers' Ass'n.

Arlington, under the combined coaching reins of Fred Ostergren and Gus Gardella, will be moving into two league contests this week with a 7-1 record in the Suburban League. If necessary, Arlington can use its ace pitcher, Dave Sheehan, for both tilts, tomorrow afternoon against Rindge Tech and Friday against Waltham. After that, only Cambridge Latin and Brookline will be in the Arlington path to the title.

In the Greater Boston league, Medford, with a perfect record of seven straight triumphs, can sit back and watch its two contenders, Everett and Somerville, battle it out this afternoon before attempting to settle the race Friday in its return game with Somerville. It's quite possible that Coach Barney Curtin of Somerville will rely on Charlie Osgood to pitch both games.

Last year, all three teams finished in a deadlock for first place and being unable to settle the differences, none qualified for the championship. This year, in spite of the fact that the Mustangs of Coach Art Tirrell have little to boast about in the line of twirlers, Medford appears set for a place on its heads-up, aggressive type of play.

Three teams on the South Shore, potential championship contenders, will be stepping into stiff assignments. Milton, recent winner over B. C. High, and Braintree, undefeated to date, will be meeting a stubborn Weymouth nine, Braintree taking the first crack tomorrow and Milton holding off until Friday. Both may be up against the speedy slants of Harley Reagh who lost an 11-inning decision to Brockton in his first start. Brockton, the third of the South Shore powers, will have to solve the twirling trickery of Taunton's Greg Connors tomorrow to remain among the undefeated teams in the state.

Boston schoolboys will play every day this week and the Intown trackmen will be making their first outdoor appearances Wednesday as English and Latin hook up with Newton in a triangular meet.

Ralph Zanelli and Henry Armstrong Marking Time

Ralph Zanelli and Hammering Henry Armstrong will take things easy today as they rest up for their 10-round bout for the duration welterweight championship of the world at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden tomorrow night. Zanelli completed his training at a gym in Providence, while Armstrong went through his final flurry of glove tossing at Harry Kelley's gym.

Johnny Buckley and Phil Buccola declare Zanelli will be at the required poundage of 145 pounds tomorrow noon when the weighing-in ceremonies are held at the office of the boxing commission. Armstrong is always below this weight.

It will be the third time Zanelli has tried to beat Armstrong. While defeated in the previous two meetings, Zanelli is confident he will be successful this time. In his training, Zanelli has shown greater speed than usual, while he has been hitting particularly hard.

It is Zanelli's plan of battle to keep boxing at a fast speed, to keep out of corners and to rough Armstrong up at close quarters, hitting him whenever an opening presents itself.

Armstrong will bank on his speed, fine boxing and top ring generalship to win.

Matchmaker Rip Valenti reports great interest in the duration title bout, and he looks for a large crowd to be in the Garden when Zanelli and Armstrong breeze into action.
